Several arms factories in Suhl have been ordered to make up this deficit by delivering the equivalent in sport weapons.

2. The Russians demand that the prices for the products of the state-owned metal industries correspond to those current in 1944. Land Sachsen is required to reimburse these firms for the difference between these prices and the 1948 costs of production, although no mention is made of this reimbursement in reparations figures. The 1944 prices stipulated are inland prices, and in many cases this is an additional burden, since the Russians demand that production items be sea-packed for export. A basic rebate of 35% is now in effect; these industries are at present appealing to the SMA Karlshorst to avoid a 10% service rebate and a 10% wholesale rebate which the Russians plan to impose.
